WRITE OUT LOUD! Grades Pre-K, K, and 1st

Barbara Garriel presents her picture book and song, I Know a Shy Fellow Who Swallowed a Cello, loaded with playful language and vivid illustrations. The author offers her multi-sensory, age-appropriate program with an engaging, interactive narrative and incorporates many creative presentation aids, including enlarged illustrations, puppet, and her original song. She uses her drafts and sketches to introduce children to the steps and excitement that come along with creating a picture book.

SING AND READ OUT LOUD! – TUNE IN TO BOOKS - Grades Pre-K, K, and 1st

In this sing-and-read-along program, Barbara shares her picture book and original song, I Know a Shy Fellow Who Swallowed a Cello. With guitar in hand, she encourages students to sing along with other songs that have been made into picture books, such as Yankee Doodle and Miss Mary Mack. This multi-sensory program includes a variety of age-appropriate songs, books, and puppets and is an enjoyable introduction to musical instruments.

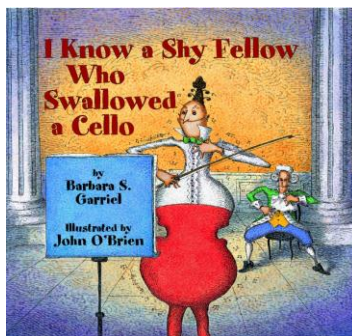

Writing Workshops

WRITE AWAY! – WRITER’S TOOLS – GETTING STARTED - Grades K and 1st

Barbara Garriel, a former Kindergarten teacher, uses interactive exercises, literature and anecdotal stories to engage young writers. She invites students to “write” and draw what they know and provides a safe environment for beginners. The ultimate question students face, “What should I write about?” is addressed. The program helps writers become “unstuck” when facing a blank page.

"What impressed me most was the author's ability to tailor the presentation to her audience. She talks to them at their level and listens as many adults forget to do. Well done!"
