

BARBARA S. GARRIEL

Barbara Garriel offers engaging educational presentations and writing workshops.

Her programs offer a look into the world of writing and publishing and inform and inspire students in grades Pre-K through High School.

She presents her programs in schools, libraries, museums, and other public venues.

- *Full time writer and teaching author
- *Certified teacher with over 10 years of classroom experience
- *Workshop facilitator with over 10 years of experience with students from Pre-K to College
- *Author of 14 non-fiction and fiction books for students
- *Author of resource manuals for educators
- *Teaching artist with BOCES Arts-in-Education
- *Songwriter, singer, and performer

Barbara studied writing with noted professionals including Lucy Caulkins at the Columbia University/Teacher's College Writing and Reading Project, and author Ralph Fletcher, as well as, at the Chatauqua Writing Workshop and Hofstra University Summer Writing Institute.

Some of Barbara's non-fiction and fiction titles include:

I Know a Shy Fellow Who Swallowed a Cello

Picture book, Audio Book, with original song, & Resource and Activity Guide

12 Take-Home Thematic Backpacks

Wolves and Their Ways, The Underwater Life of Rivers, Endangered Sea Life, Underwater Cities – The Coral Reefs, Sharks, Backyard Birds, and Balto, the Sled Dog

For additional further information about presentations, workshops and books, please contact:

www.barbaragarriel.com
bgarriel@barbaragarriel.com

Recommendation for Barbara Garriel's presentations:

"She had the students mesmerized...She knows students, is a good teacher, and inspires and excites her audience...I would recommend her highly."

Dr. Robert Fredericks, principal